WALL STREET MEN IN COUNCIL.

The JOURNAL is informed that a meeting of political bosses is to be held at Carson to-day to consult on the political situation and if possible devise means to break up the Silver party. Some of the bosses propose to endorse two of the Silver party electors and put them on the Republican ticket, hoping thereby to create dissension in the ranks of the silver men, while others, and among them are the shrewdest party manipulators, advise that no electoral ticket be nominated. There is a third faction comprising the Federal brigade and "mint drops," who insist that there must be a straight-out Harrison electoral ticket in the field as they cannot incur the displeasure of the President and D. O. Mills for any local consideration or to assist anybody who may aspire to Congressional or local office.

Hon. Thomas Wren was asked at the time of the Silver Convention here what he and General Powning would do in the event of their nomination by the Republican Wall Street contingent to Nevada "Repudiate the nomination," replied Mr. Wren in his characteristically emphatic manner. "We do not object to gold men voting for us," said Mr. Wren, "but we do not propose to obligate ourselves in any way to support their candidate."

THE GREAT STRUGGLE.

Several persons and many newspapers say the fight between the workmen at the Carnegie works in Pennsylvania and Pinkerton's imported hitlings is the beginning of the great struggle that is surely coming between capital and labor. The Truckee Republican says the right or possibility of one man sided by favorable legislation, to make millions of dollars off the labor of others, must stop, or a war of factions is inevitable. Woe unto the oppressor of men when the time comes. This must either deprive the workmen of the ballot, which is impossible, or protect him from the grasping and selfish greed of unrestrained capital—from the Carnegies, and all millionaire employers of men, who regard their hirelings—those upon whose labor they fatten—with less sentiment, a less sense of common humanity than they bestow on the dumb brutes they own.

DISPLEASED WITH HIS OWN ACT.

Senator Sherman of Ohio is not satisfied with the workings of his Commodity Act which Harrison men told us two years ago was better than free coinage. Honest John recently visited New York City and publicly declared that there was no danger of the Stewart bill becoming a law, as, if Wall Street did not defeat it in the House, the President would veto it. Now Honest John has introduced a bill to repeal that part of the Commodity Act which provides for the monthly purchase of silver bullion. The bill provides for the repeal of so much of the Act of July, 1890, as directs the Secretary to purchase monthly 4,500,000 ounces of bullion or such portion thereof as may be offered. The Act is to take effect January 1st, 1893, and should it become a law it will stop the purchase and coinage of silver.

VOTE AS YOU TALK.

The Elko Independent is getting to be one of the most enthusiastic advocates of the people's cause in the State. It says: "The Omaha platform demands the free coinage of silver at the present ratio, of 16 to 1. The Minneapolis and Chicago platforms are at best miserable straddles on this question so important to the people of Nevada. Which of these platforms should receive our support? General Weaver, who stands on the Omaha platform, favors our interests, while Harrison and Cleveland are against us. Which candidate will the people of Nevada support at the ballot box in November? If we vote as we talk, General Weaver will receive the unanimous vote of the State."

The Humboldt County Silver League offers a reward of one hundred dollars for a man of full growth, outside the Insane Asylum and State Prison, who advocates the election of Cleveland or Harrison except he be an office-holder, an office-seeker, a party boss or seeking the position of boss or beaver of the sack. There has been no claimants for the reward and there is no probability of there being any as the exceptions embrace all the Wall Street people, whether they call themselves Republicans or Democrats.

Congressman Tracy of New York, a goldbug Democrat, in his anxiety to defeat the Silver bill in the House, expressed the opinion that Harrison would sign it. Tracy is not a Republican and is not Secretary of the Treasury, as stated by the Gazette last evening. He is a Cleveland Democrat of as strict a type as the temporary editor of the Gazette. John Sherman, who is nearer the President than Congressman Tracy, stated emphatically that Harrison would veto the Silver bill if it ever reached him.

Of the 136 votes for the consideration of the Stewart Silver bill in the House of Representatives 8 were People's party, 9 Republicans and 119 Democrats. The names of the 136 members who voted against the consideration of the bill were not sent to the JOURNAL.

THE IDAHO STRIKE.

Miners Prepared to Meet the Colored Troops—Miners Accused of Murderous Work. MINNEAPOLIS, July 14.—A special from Spokane, Wash., says a large body of armed miners left Wallace this morning and were joined by an equally large force of armed strikers from Mullan. The party intend entreaching themselves in the Mullan defile and await the arrival of the colored troops, now en route from Missoula to Wardner. As soon as the soldiers reach the defile the miners will surround them. A bloody battle will inevitably be the result. All newspaper men are virtually prisoners at Wardner and are unable to send dispatches.

Nearly all business men of Wardner suspected of anti-union sentiment have been driven out of town by the strikers now in the hills. The mine owners and their representatives are in danger of their lives in Wallace.

The report is corroborated of the massacre of non-union men at Mission by strikers who were conducting them out of the country. Twelve are known to have been killed. Among the number was Monaghan, Superintendent of the Gen mine, whose body was terribly mangled.

General Carlin and infantry from Fort Sherman reached Wardner last night and took possession of the town and placed Shoshone county under martial law. A score of refugees from the Mission slaughter straggled into town to-day. They present a pitiful appearance with torn clothes and bruised bodies. They confirm the story of the slaughter report in circulation. Three thousand armed union men are on their way here from Montana, and if the strikers are arrested bloodshed is predicted.

Bridges between here and Mullan have all been repaired and trains are running on time.

An appeal has been made to Senators Palmer of Illinois and Sanders of Montana and Congressmen Dixon of Montana, Sweet of Idaho and Watson of Georgia for a Congressional investigation of the Coeur d'Alene troubles. The appeal was signed by Peter Breen of the Miners' Union, C. F. Boshnell, attorney for the Miners' Union, and a large number of citizens.

SPokane, July 14.—Troops from Fort Spokane left here at 11 o'clock for Wardner. The massacre at Old Mission is now said to have been greatly exaggerated.

BOISE, Idaho, July 14.—The tension of public feeling has relaxed somewhat, as it seems to be settled that troops are in absolute control in Coeur d'Alene. The Governor sent the following order to General Curtis at Cataldo:

"In addition to instructions wired last night I transmit the following: If any person is apprehended in the act of blowing up railroad bridges or property, or mills, or houses, or other property with dynamite or placing it in position, shoot him on the spot. Promulgate this order to the troops."

WALLACE, July 14.—As far as known only one man, by the name of Abbot, was shot at Old Mission. He is in the hospital here and may die. He says a number of men were killed, but no bodies can be found. Searching parties are now out.

House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—In the House to-day Herbert of Alabama presented the disagreeing conference report on the Naval Appropriation bill and it was agreed to. He then moved that the House records from its disagreements to the Senate amendments still in controversy and that it be likewise agreed to by a vote of 146 to 83. Conceded points are the appropriation of $50,000 for a naval review and authorization for the construction of a new battle ship.

Hurrying Legislation.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Both extreme free silver men and "anties" have their own story of yesterday's battle over the silver question, and all are extremely anxious to get away and begin campaign work. Many members heretofore entrenched behind big majorities now begin to feel apprehensive and wish to confer with their constituents, so matters of legislation are being hurried forward with all expedition, and with the final passage of Appropriation bills the present session of Congress will end.

The situation at Coeur d'Alene. SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—J. J. Hammond, President of the Banker Hill and Sullivan Mining Company, who is now in this city, said to-day that he had received telegrams stating that everything was quiet to-day in the Coeur d'Alene district. Hammond said the directors of the company had not yet decided what course to take regarding the future working of the mines. The principal loss to the company so far had been that of time. The company had gone to great expense in erecting a mill and making other improvements and the shut-down was much to their disadvantage. G. R. Smith who was sent to this city by the Executive Committee of the Wallace Miners' Union to prevent the importation into that section of non-union men, said that while the origin of the present trouble could be indirectly traced to a demand for an increase of wages, which was unsuccessful last year, the direct cause of trouble was a revolt by the men against a hospital tax of one dollar per month levied by the company and which the miners claimed was not productive of assistance to them at a time whenever needed. The unions built a hospital at Wallace and adopted a rule that the dollar per month, instead of being paid to the company, should be paid to the hospital. The Banker Hill and Sullivan Company refused to recognize the justice of this rule and a strike which followed resulted in favor of the miners. Smith claims that a reduction of wages then followed.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—In the Senate to-day the consideration of the Sundry Civil bill was resumed. Quay offered an amendment in lieu of the Sunday closing amendment to the World's Fair paragraph adopted yesterday declaring that all appropriations made for the Exposition are on condition that it shall not be opened on Sunday. Agreed to.

Cullom demanded a separate vote on the amendment prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors within the World's Fair grounds. Palmer joined in the request and made a statement that an Illinois corporation had let privileges for a large number of bars and restaurants with the right to serve liquors with meals. Penalties for non-compliance aggregate $800,000. A vote was then taken and the amendment prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors within the grounds was defeated, yeas 21, nays 29.

The Senate then adjourned till Monday.

A Decision to Be Appealed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—The decision of Judge Hawley of the United States Circuit Court on Monday, in the celebrated case of Lizzie T. Ralston against the trustees of the estate of William Sharon, in which the Court held that it had no jurisdiction in the case, does not end the litigation. Judge Hawley in effect declared that all of the parties to the suit were residents of California, and that plaintiff could get no relief in any county of equity of this State, although as a matter of fact jurisdiction was originally acquired by Federal courts upon the estate of William Sharon, in November, 1890, that he was a resident of Nevada.

Attorneys for Mrs. Ralston have been busy engaged for the past few days, preparing the necessary papers for an appeal to the United States Court of Appeals from Judge Hawley's decision and notice will be filed next week. The amount involved is nearly $5,000,000.

A Smoke Consuming Scheme.

A correspondent suggests a method of abating the smoke nuisance in close manufacturing localities by having a smoke duct running through a town, connected in a suitable manner with the different furnaces. In carrying out such a plan it is suggested that the duct might be conveyed outside of the city to a condensing station, an exhaust machine being employed to force the draught. At the condensing station the soot laden air would be made to pass through water conveniently proximate, in this way depositing the solid matter, while the air passes away comparatively pure; the soot which remains might easily be collected, caked and used as fuel, etc. The dimensions of the duct for such a purpose would have to vary, as in the case of water and other mains, according to the work to be performed.—Indian Engineer.

A Gypsy Burial. An interesting gypsy burial has just taken place at the Catholic cemetery in Weissensee, near Berlin. The son of the gypsy chief was carried to the grave, accompanied by members of the race from far and wide. A band of music opened the procession, followed by gypsies playing the fiddle or clashing cymbals. The splendid metal coffin was carried in a first class hearse, on each side of which the cousins and uncles of the deceased rode on horseback, their bridles and saddles being covered with crapes. Close behind the coffin rode the six oldest members of the clan, beating tambourines while they muttered prayers. Then came a troop of gypsy men, women and children in carriages, on horseback or on foot, clad in their picturesque costumes. The procession was closed by the parents of the deceased, accompanied by four "mourning women," who raised a fearful howling. The sight attracted thousands of spectators. The burial was accomplished with the usual Catholic rites, but afterward the gypsies offered up a dog as a "sacrifice to the moon" in an open field near by.—London News.

Paying Rent with a Rose.

The ground on which is erected Zion's new Lutheran church of Mannheim, Pa., was donated to the congregation 120 years ago for the consideration of an annual payment of one red rose by Baron Henry William Seigel, who founded Mannheim, and was the first glass and iron manufacturer of any note in the United States. He demanded the rose twice, and was paid. The baron died poor and filled an unknown grave, and the payment was not legally demanded until recently, when, by arrangement, Mr. J. C. Seigel, a great-grandson of the baron, came from Harrisonburg, Va., to receive it. Services throughout the day had a memorial tinge. The Rev. Mr. Menges preached an eloquent sermon from the text, "I am the rose of Sharon." The afternoon was devoted solely to exercises incident to the payment of the rose and interest, the whole town taking part.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Maiden Lady Once Had a Fine Talking Bird, but, being subjected to headaches, she often put him in the kitchen. The cook objected and said to Polly, "You horrid thing, I wish you were dead." Polly soon learned this, and when his mistress got better and took him to her own room, he said, "You horrid thing I wish you were dead." This shocked the delicate little lady. One day she met her rector, and, after he had inquired about her health, he said, "How is Polly?" Then she told him how Polly had affected her nerves. The rector said: "Send him to spend a month with my bird. He may forget it." She immediately accepted his offer. In due time Polly was sent home, and, as soon as his mistress went to the cage, Polly saluted her with: "You horrid thing, I wish you were dead. We beseech thee to hear us, good Lord!"—New York Recorder.

Fine fishing and hunting; free boating and bathing; first class table. Address: J. M. Smith, 2nd. Nevadans should work for their own interests; State prosperity before party success, should be the motto of the people in this campaign. Home first and party afterwards should be the campaign cry in Nevada this year. Wall Street is able to take care of its own interests and candidates. The co-partnership heretofore existing between S. S. May and J. J. Nicholson, in the hotel business at Verdi, has been dissolved by mutual consent. Judge Wells of Carson left last night for his new home at Bakerfield, California. He was an old resident of Nevada and filled several offices in the State. The Board of Pardons is granting out applications for pardons as speedily as the hot weather will permit. It will be several days before the calendar is disposed of. Miss Cad Richardson, formerly of Reno, who has a lucrative position in Portland, Or., where she has been for several months, returned yesterday on a visit to her parents. The Carson Appeal, in its column rules and goes into mourning over the defeat of the silver bill. It advises the silver men to close up their ranks, as there is a to-morrow coming. McGurn, the Virginia City merchant, has found it necessary to put on another span of horses, making it a six-horse team, to accommodate the increase of business on his stage line. The Elko Independent says if the people of Nevada are sincere on the silver question can they, at the present time, support either Harrison or Cleveland for the Presidency? The surveying party under the charge of L. F. Warner which has been surveying the extension of the N.C.O. expect to return to the front the first of next week and continue the survey into Oregon. Bar silver 1,000 fine sold yesterday in New York City at 84 1/2 cents per ounce and yet these people are depending upon silver mining for prosperity, but they are very few who think of voting for Harrison or Cleveland. The Elko Postoffice has been reduced from a Presidential office with a fixed salary, to a fourth-class office, which receives a percentage on the amount of stamps cancelled. The low price of silver is depopulating the State. The Board of Pardons yesterday pardoned Bangs Jim and the two squaws sent to State Prison from Humboldt county for killing a witch near Lovelocks a year and a half ago. The Indians thought they were committing no crime, but they will know better henceforth. General R. M. Clarke, who was one of the delegates to the Chicago Convention, is well satisfied with the silver plank of the Democratic platform. He thinks it means free coinage, but in the remote future, however. He says the belief is prevalent East that Cleveland will carry New York. Judge Benjamin Carter, one of the delegates to the Omaha Convention, says General Weaver is the peer of Harrison or Cleveland intellectually, and as an orator immeasurably superior to either. He is a man of commanding presence and much magnetism. He will speak in many of the Western and Southern States during the campaign, and there is no doubt of his carrying several of them.

KISS THE CLOUDS AWAY. A New Song to be Sung in "Tuxedo," by Richard J. Jose, the Famous Contra-Tenor. No one who has ever heard Thatchers Minstrels or has witnessed a performance of his new minstrel farce comedy creation "Tuxedo," will forget the singing of that sweet voiced contra-tenor, Richard J. Jose. A short sketch of his life might prove interesting to Journal readers, and it is best told in Mr. Jose's own words: "I was born in Cornwall, England, June 5, 1868. My father, Richard Jose, was a Spaniard and a noted church organist, and my mother was a Cornish woman."

"My father, being a musician, he naturally gave me my first instructions in music, and I sang in concerts which he gave when only 10 years of age, but his death, which occurred when I was 11 years old, deprived me not only of his instructions, and I went on to the care of relatives, and I was sent to America to live with a then wealthy uncle, who owned valuable mining interests in Virginia City, Nev. Two years after I arrived in this country, my uncle lost all of his property through unwise speculation, from the effects of which he also died, when I was thrown on my own resources for a living and I apprenticed myself to a cousin in Reno, Nev., to learn the carriage making trade. I worked at the anvil and forge for two years, but all this time I kept up my study of music and became a member of the Episcopal church at Reno. I sang in various concerts and amateur productions, until I secured, through the influence of friends, my first professional engagement with Charles Reed's minstrels, then touring the mining towns of Nevada and California. "Mr. Jose thereafter engaged with a number of well-known companies, including Emerson, Dockstader and Duncan Thompson. He joined Thatchers last September. An interesting incident in connection with his appearance here in "Tuxedo" on next Tuesday evening, July 19, will be his singing of a new song, "Kiss the Clouds Away," by E. E. Kidder, the celebrated playwright. Mr. Kidder had the misfortune a few weeks ago to lose his only child, a beautiful boy 3 years of age, and the numerous expressions of sympathy and condolence which appeared in the New York, Boston and Philadelphia papers in reference to his bereavement, induced Mr. Kidder to express his grief in the following beautiful poem, which he set to music and dedicated to the Press clubs of those cities: "Through days of sun and storm, my love, Through hours of glad and ill, We've fought life's battles as we could, Please God we'll fight it still. We'll see, I know, before we go, Again a golden day, And when the shadows come, my love, We'll kiss the lowering clouds away, We'll kiss the lowering clouds away, CHORUS. We'll kiss the clouds away, sweetheart, We've done it, love, before to-day, We have each other, after all, So we'll kiss the lowering clouds away, When heaven sent us our baby boy, Our treasure, golden haired, We clasped him to our hearts, my love, And prayed he might be spared, But when the little life went out, It took us many a day, To whisper, "It is better so," And to kiss the lowering clouds away. We may not gain of this world's goods, No matter how we try; But such love as yours has been No gold can ever buy; So when the skies are overcast, And all the world grows gray, I'll clasp my loved one to my heart, And we'll kiss the lowering clouds away. At the special request of Mr. Kidder, Mr. Jose was selected as the singer who should first sing the song in public, which he did last Thursday evening at the Taber Grand in Denver, and full particulars of his reception were telegraphed to the press of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. Personally, Mr. Jose is a charming companion and of that disposition which would necessarily make him a sympathetic singer. A SAGEBRUSH MAIDEN. A Platte Squaw in Gorgeous Costume The Amadee Geyser says the best dressed woman in Amadee on July 4th was a Platte squaw from the Pyramid Lake Reservation. She wore a handsome dress of scarlet plush trimmed with lavender ribbon. Her raven black hair was held in place at the neck by a gold brooch richly set with stones, and the locks were then allowed to fall at will down her back. On her head was a rich white and black chenille shawl (fringed on the edge with quarters at a distance of about two inches apart. In purchasing a watermelon from E. O. Brown she displayed a bead purse containing two $20, three $10, and several $5 pieces, together with a number of greenbacks. Maybe she didn't take the wind out of things, and then again maybe she did. The Performance Last Evening. The Wilber Company presented "Esmeralda," last evening to a good audience. It is not necessary to say more than that the company was up to the usual standard and that each character was well sustained. The universal verdict is that the troupe is a good one and that last night's play was equally as well produced as those of the previous evenings. "Monte Cristo" will be presented this evening and will undoubtedly be put before the people in a manner equal to any company that has heretofore produced it before a Reno audience. Don't fail to attend and give the Wilber Company a crowded house.

PNEUMATIC PULVERIZERS. A New Process for Working Gold Ores. The Denver News has the following relative to the Luckenbach process for reducing gold ores: "Parties interested in gold mining should not fail to visit the works of the Pneumatic Ore Milling and Mining Company on Twenty-eighth and Blake streets, where a complete gold mill has been in operation for the past two months. The two pairs of pneumatic pulverizers, as well as all other portions of the machinery, are practically perfect and could not be improved upon. To appreciate it, all miners, metallurgists, mill men and the public generally should see this mill in operation for themselves. Indeed it is one of the most interesting and novel sights that Denver affords, and visitors through the works daily to see it. A car-load of ore can be treated from start to finish during each day. The ore, as it leaves the breaker, is pulverized to any fineness and drawn up through the exhaust pipes dry and hot. "A water spray at the terminus of the exhaust pipe makes the ore wet and hot, in which condition it is conducted under and through a body of quicksilver in the gold-saving trap. Thence it is carried through another body of quicksilver in a second gold-saving trap, a system of operations that saves the very highest possible percentage of free gold. It is then discharged as tailings and flows to the rear of the mill. "The steam boiler, the celebrated Abenbroth & Root make, is acknowledged as the best in the world. It is of the water tube sectional type, capable of standing the enormous pressure of 400 pounds with absolute safety and is virtually impossible to explode. "Messrs. Frederick A. and Harry Luckenbach, the proprietors of these works, are prepared to make tests of from one pound to ten tons of ore. "In the well-equipped laboratory contained in the building complete assays of free gold are made, and the assay value of the gold is produced on glass plates. A number of specimen assays on hand show from $100 to $4,556 per ton. The Messrs. Luckenbach comprise the only company in this part of the country where this character of work is done. Large lots of ore from Wyoming and all parts of Colorado have already been treated, and correspondence has recently been opened with the managements of large mines in Montana, preparatory to shipments of ore from that State. "The most remarkable features of this gold mill are the simplicity of its construction and operation. The light machinery rests on the simple foundation of the plank floor. There is no grinding, no dust, no noise, no ponderous, heavy or complex machinery requiring expensive foundations. There is no specially skilled labor required in its operation. This gold mill, combining the perfection of simplicity, lightness and durability, is the property of F. A. Luckenbach & Son, who are prepared to contract for the erection of mills of any capacity, from a minimum capacity of 10 tons to a maximum of 1,000 tons a day. I. O. O. F. Installation. Subsequently the Board thus chosen organized by the election of H. H. Beck, President; W. O. H. Martin, Vice President; Henry B. Rule, Secretary, and the First National Bank, Treasurer. The farmers down the Truckee are plagued with an invasion of a kind of ground squirrel which resembles a prairie dog. They are heavier than the common sagebrush squirrel and they have short tails. They are doing great damage to wheat and at the Murphy Brothers' ranch they have destroyed several acres of that grain. Men who have lived here for thirty years say they saw never such squirrels before in this part of Nevada. Following are the officers installed in Nevada Lodge No. 5, A. O. U. VENTILATION. Not the politician's sort, but the fresh air you need. Health and comfort often suffer for this kind of ventilation. Never sleep in a poorly ventilated room. You wake up unrefreshed, out of sorts, and bilious. BALZAC'S SERVANT.

When Honore de Balzac, the novelist, stated in early life his wish to become a literary man, his father, who had destined him for the bar, was shocked and disappointed. Still he gave the boy two years in which to prove his fitness for a literary life, and Honore was accordingly installed in an attic near the library where he proposed to work.

His mother believed that a little hardship would soon bring him to his senses, but the correspondence which he thereupon began with his sister shows that the man who was afterward to attain distinction in his chosen work could afford, as a youth, to scorn such trifles as waiting upon himself. In the very first letter he confided to his sister the news that he had taken a servant. He writes: "He is named Myself! And a bad bargain he is, truly! Myself is lazy, clumsy, thoughtless. His master is hungry or thirsty, and often enough Myself has neither bread nor water to give him; he doesn't even know how to shield him from the wind which whistles through the door and window. As soon as I am awake I ring for Myself, and he makes my bed. Then he sweeps the room, and clumsy he is at it."

"Myself!" "Yes, sir."

"Look at that colwob with the big fly buzzing in it till I am half giddy with the noise, and the stuff under the bed, and the dust under the window panes!" "The lazy beggar gazes at me and doesn't stir, and yet, in spite of all his defects, I can't get rid of that unmitigated Myself!"

And the same stupid "Myself" it was who afterward enriched French literature with a series of wonderful works.—Youth's Companion.

Fat People on a Hot Day.

On one of the recent hot, soggy afternoons, when every man hated his neighbor and tried to keep at a distance from him, a perspiring, heavily clothed fat man waddled into an elevated train at the city hall station and pre-empted one of the cross seats. He breathed like a porpoise and mopped his face with a large handkerchief.

Just before the train started a woman, heavy almost beyond description with a hippo tissue, entered the same car. The car creaked beneath her tread. The passengers were many, and those who joined empty seats watched her progress with a nervous glance. But with no great degree of bluntness of manner, as is sometimes said to prevail in more dignified people, she plunged to the center of the car and pressed herself down into the space beside the fat man.

The fat man looked at her a moment but she seemed oblivious of his regard. Then he braced himself for a move and got out of his seat. Then the fat woman became aware of his presence.

"Don't move—plenty of room," said she.

"Madam," said he, and his voice was high and clear, "it's a hot day. I am fat. You are fat. We've got no business to be any where near each other so you'll excuse me. And he moved away with an imitation of dignity while the passengers laughed at his forcible English.

But the fat woman, nettled at first, thought better of it, and as she spread herself over the entire seat murmured to a crowded neighbor, "There's some advantage in being fat after all!"—Lillo Point of View in New York Times.

Excuse for Bad Roads.

Bicyclist (in disgust)—Why do you have such abominable roads in this section? Farmer—Well, you see, we're afraid if we made 'em any better you bicyclists fellows will be using 'em.—Good News.

The Grand Trunk railway of Uruguay

Fruits Attract Them.

Hosts of unemployed men and others seeking temporarily to better their condition are flocking to the Delaware peninsula now to pick small fruits for the markets of Philadelphia and New York. The fruit growers erect rude sheds in the open fields, and here the berry pickers eat and sleep while the season lasts. The earnings of berry pickers are considerably above the average pay of farm hands. Later in the season come the "peach plucks," a race of tramps from all parts of the northern Atlantic slope, fanned by the native farmers and hated as competitors by the negro farm laborers.

Said It, and Then He Died.

Bert C. Hunter, a prominent mining man of Nihaurit, Mon., died recently from a sixty-grain dose of morphine, taken with suicidal intent. Physicians worked over him for seventeen hours without success. Toward the last, while being jolted on a board, slumped in the face and shaken to keep him awake, he looked up ruefully and muttered, "Oh, what a difference in the morning."—Cor. San Francisco Examiner.

Iron Deposits in Finland.

An important discovery of very extensive iron ore deposits, which are even supposed to rival the enormous iron ore mountain at Gellivara, in north Sweden, has quite recently been made in Finland by M. Stjernvall, the geologist.

Old Nursery Favorites.

There was Tom, the Son of the Piper, Jack Spar, and Merry King Cole, And the Three Wise Men of Gotham, Who went to see in a bowl; The woman who rode on a broomstick, And swept the cobwebbed sky, And the boy who sat in the corner, Eating his Christmas pie.

These were some of the old favorites, but they have been supplanted by the "Pansy" and "Chatterbox" stories, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and "Five Little Peppers." The Old fashioned pills and physics have been superseded, and wisely too, by Pierce's Purgative Pellets, a mild, harmless and effective cathartic. They are pleasant to take—so gentle in their action that the most delicate child can take them, yet so effective that they will cure the most obstinate cases of constipation, stomach, liver and bowel troubles. They should be in every nursery. As a gentle laxative, only one for a dose.

"German Syrup"

Martinsville, N. J., Methodist Parsonage. "My acquaintance with your remedy, Boschee's German Syrup, was made about fourteen years ago, when I contracted a Cold which resulted in a Hoarseness and a Cough which disabled me from filling my pulpit for a number of Sabbaths. After trying a Physician, without obtaining relief—I cannot say now what remedy he prescribed—I saw the advertisement of your remedy and obtained a bottle. I received such quick and permanent help from it that whenever we have had Throat or Bronchial troubles since in our family, Boschee's German Syrup has been our favorite remedy and always with favorable results. I have never hesitated to report my experience of its use to others when I have found them troubled in like manner." REV. W. H. HAGGARTY, of the Newark, New Jersey, M. E. Conference, April 25, '90. BEFORE HE THOUGHT.

The Poor Fellow Was Really Hungry and Spoke His Mind Too Frankly.

Tom De Witt, Jack Ford and Ed Stillman had been living on cigars and hope for two days and were nearly starved to death.

They had decided to honor some of their Vassar friends with a visit, at the time of the commencement, when the college discipline is somewhat relaxed; but a short stay in the place had convinced them that the fare of the Poughkeepsie boarding house was inadequate to satisfy Murray Hill appetites.

So when, after a morning drive, the girls announced that they intended to effectually silence the current feeble snore at the cooking abilities of fair collegians by giving the party a lunch prepared by themselves, there was joy in the hearts of the men. At the word "lunch" Tom looked at Ed and Ed looked at Tom, and Jack looked straight into the face of the prettiest girl and said most felicitously, "Oh, thank you!"

It was to be served in one of the rooms at 2 o'clock; "in the meantime they would stroll about the grounds and get up an appetite."

At last the lunch came. It was a "pink" one. The table was artistically and tastefully decorated. Big pink bows and bunches of roses covered the cloth, and elaborately painted dinner cards directed the guests to their seats.

As course succeeded course the men began to wonder where the substantial things were coming in, and to realize that a third disappointment had fallen to their lot.

The little tubs of deviled salmon, the impalpable croquettes with tender asparagus tips, the tiny dabs of shrimp salad in the center of cool, green lettuce leaves, the salted almonds, the olives, the meringues placed and the strawberry sherbet were all very dainty and delicate, but not particularly satisfying to earthly mortals whose thoughts were running on thick, juicy English chops and big pewter mugs the size of an infant's bathtub.

And when as a finishing touch came little packages of tarts, cunningly tied up in pink ribbons, were passed around on a silver plate, the men felt unequal to further conversational effort.

A few hours after the feast Tom De Witt remarked that it was time for them to be starting, as they expected to catch the 7:30 train for New York.

"Oh, you'd better stay over until the 10:10," recommended a sweet sophomore; "you will just spoil your evening. What will you do when you get back to the city?"

Here was the great opportunity of Jack's life, and unconsciously he rose to it.

"Oh," he said earnestly, "we'll go straight to a hotel and get something to eat, for we haven't had a square meal since we have been in this town!"

For a moment three girls stared blankly at each other, and then the young men gathered their hats and came together and, saying hurried "good nights," sped, with horizontal coat tails, in the direction of the depot.—Harry Romaldo in Homemaker.

Clouds of Locusts.

The locusts are reappearing in Algeria in greater numbers than ever, in spite of the efforts that were made by the French administration last year to annihilate the pests. It is now believed that they come clear across the desert from the Soudan. The period of incubation varies from twenty to thirty days, and the locusts require only about two months to attain their complete development. This fact gives a realizing sense to the prodigious numbers in which the terrible insect may multiply during its progress across the Sahara. Great clouds of the locusts have already been seen on the northern edge of the Sahara making their way north. The news comes from Toungout and Ghardain in the Sahara that early this year the locusts suddenly invaded those places in such enormous numbers that for four hours they fairly darkened the heavens. About a month before similar clouds of locusts were reported in the valley of the Niger river in the Soudan, and it is believed that in the four succeeding weeks they had journeyed to the northern part of the Sahara.—New York Sun.
